

BIO-BABA FITTING INSTRUCTIONS...

Getting the fit right...

As Bio-Babas are all-in-one nappies (nappy, liner and waterproof) there is no separate time-wasting procedures when fitting. Other clever features include: wide-band Velcro for a snug fit; smart-fit tabs which stop the Velcro picking up lint during washing; multi-padding with hemp for super absorbency and breathable outers.

Getting a good fit is vital to successful cloth nappy use...What we recommend is a 'One leg at a time approach'. Place the nappy under the baby's bum as per the "Fitting instructions" available on your swing ticket THEN, pull the elastic of the right leg straight up to 2 'o clock and close the right tab. Then, pull the elastic of the left hand side of the nappy straight up to 10 'o clock and then close the left tab. It is absolutely vital that there are NO GAPS underneath the legs after the 'smart-fit' tabs have been closed. Finally, check that all the flannel has been tucked in and that the edges are straight and comfortably protecting from the Velcro.

A closer look at fitting a Bio-Baba...

Fold Super-Absorbent Hemp Booster Pad into the 'Famous "V" Fold' (for a boy so that the double fold in the "V" is where his winky is); for a girl simply place the pad in the flap or fold double where she wets the most...work with your baby.

Place the Hemp Booster in the nappy underneath the flip-out-flap...the primary function of the flap is to catch any poo which can then be easily flipped into the toilet and flushed before soaking. Folding the pad in this way means that the pad has double absorbency where the baby is weeing and then extra protection from leaks along the legs.

When using the Bio-Baba at night – make sure that you insert an extra Hemp Booster in the flap for extra absorbency...this will keep babies skin completely dry.

Always make sure that you fold the Smart-Fit Velcro tabs on themselves when removing the nappy in order to protect them from picking up lint.

Always flush solids down the toilet before soaking.

Bio-Baba nappies are so simple to use that once you get the hang of fitting them to your baby you won't look back...you will also be doing your baby, your finances and the environment a huge favour.

If you are privileged to have a washing machine (and domestic help) – there really is no reason not to include these fabulous nappies in your nappy routine.
